TO:

Oshkosh Public Library Board of Trustees

FROM:

Jeff Gilderson-Duwe

SUBJECT:

Carryover Fund Designation

The library ended 2022 with $366,480 in the undesignated fund balance with the City of Oshkosh. We often refer to the undesignated fund balance as "carryover funds," since the amount represents accumulated fund surpluses "carried over" from past years' budgets.

Please see the table below for detail of the fund balance calculation:

2021 – 2022 Carryover	$ 529,273
2022 Revenues	$ 3,832,509
2022 Revenues plus Carryover	$ 4,361,782
2022 Expenditures	$ 3,995,302
2022 – 2023 Carryover	$ 366,480

Most years since 2009, the library board has designated portions of the carryover surplus funds to be used for specific purposes. This practice was initiated in response to an unpublished 2006 opinion letter from the Wisconsin Department of Justice that stated "a library board may not maintain unexpended monies as generic funds on hand."

My recommendations for designating the uses of the library's carryover surplus in 2023 are below:

"A Library in Every Life"

1. I recommend that the library board designate $60,000 of the carryover fund balance to cover retirement benefits payouts during the remainder of 2023.

The Library has not paid out any retirement benefits thus far in 2023. Between my own expected accumulated sick leave payout and other potential payouts, I believe that it would be prudent of the Board to earmark $60,000 for this purpose.

2. I recommend that the board designate $50,000 to spend on library materials.

With the 2023 operating levy freeze experienced by the Library, the budget line hit hardest by the need to reduce expenditures was Library Materials, which was set $80,000 below the 2022 level. After consulting with the Head of Collection Development, we believe that a restoration this year of $50,000 will allow acceptable materials acquisitions. Planning for the 2024 operating budget may call for additional funds, especially to keep pace with demand for electronic content.

3. I recommend that the library board designate up to $50,000 of the undesignated fund balance to cover previously unbudgeted costs in support of identified Strategic Plan projects.

One such project is a consultant-led rebranding of Oshkosh Public Library. The rebranding project will help OPL to better connect with our patrons, community and stakeholders with a clear brand message, visual identity and brand standards.

1. I recommend that the library board designate up to $30,000 of the undesignated fund balance to cover previously unbudgeted maintenance and/or repair projects for the library building and grounds.

One project that is pending this summer is the reconstruction of the decorative planting beds to the North of the Library main entrance. This work will be done at a cost of about $13,000. Although no other projects are known at present, we believe it would be prudent to allow for at least one other of a similar scale and cost.

2. I recommend that the library board designate the remaining carryover surplus balance of $176,480 for future capital projects that may arise out of the library facility development plan slated for completion in 2024.

Oshkosh Public Library Highlights May 2023

- 1. Staff from the Children's Department presented at the annual Wisconsin Association of Public Libraries conference in April. Marie Boleman, Lindsay Reuer and Kallie Schell talked about the ongoing popularity of take-home learning activities that they began distributing during the height of the pandemic. Early literacy kits, Storytime in a Bag and S.T.E.A.M. kits were three of the offerings highlighted during the presentation. Eighteen conference attendees from throughout the state also ventured over to OPL for a building tour on the final day of the event.
- 2. The artistic talents of library staff were on full display when Art by Librarians debuted under the Dome April 24-29. Staff from across the library shared their drawings, photography, Dungeons & Dragons dioramas and more. A reception held on April 27 drew 58 people family, friends, patrons and visitors from the Wisconsin Association of Public Libraries conference.
- 3. OPL observed National Library Week 2023 with a Facebook series that reflected this year's theme, There's More to the Story. The goal was to highlight library offerings outside our core focus on books and reading. Posts highlighted community engagement and outreach; partnerships; special collections such as TIY Kits; the library's role as a catalyst for creativity in our community; and yes we did slip in one post about our support for reading. In addition to telling the library story, the posts contributed to increases of 56 percent in both comments and replies for the month of April, with overall engagement on the series at almost 4 percent (which is above the 2022 average of 3.5 percent).
- 4. Readers Advisory Librarian Nancy Bell spoke at the annual conference of the Wisconsin Education Council-Retired on May 4. Nancy presented popular books, award winners and underrated reads across genres from 2022 and 2023. She also shared tips and tricks for engaging readers with their new favorite books.
- 5. The Mark Gruenwald Comic Book Creation Challenge launched on May 6 and 100 people have already registered to create an original comic. OPL will continue to work with the Winnebago Area Literacy Council to distribute art kits to participants and promote their annual event, which is designed to foster literacy and creativity in our community.
- 6. The library participated in the River East Neighborhood Association's annual birdhouse building event on May 6. OPL played the role of good neighbor, bringing the event inside the library when rainy weather dampened the original plan to gather across the street in William Waters Plaza. Individuals and families painted birdhouses, signed up for the Mark Gruenwald Comic Book Creation Challenge, learned about upcoming library events and enjoyed time together under the Dome.

- 7. The Lakefly Writers conference was held May 5-6, with near record attendance and enthusiastic accolades from those who were there. There were 114 people registered for the conference, with 25 speakers and 15 volunteers to help keep the conference running smoothly. One attendee posted on Facebook: "10/10 would recommend (the conference) to anyone looking to grow their writing community or their craft!!" A full report will be shared at a future meeting.
- 8. More than 100 cyclists pedaled to the library on May 13 as part of the annual BikeOsh event. Riders travel to 20 pit stops around Oshkosh during the event, which encourages residents to get out and explore on their bikes. BikeOsh is coordinated by students in Communities at Oshkosh North High School.
- 9. OPL was also a pit stop in this year's Amazing Oshkosh event on May 13. Ten four-person teams raced around the city, completing challenges at a dozen locations that showcased the work of area non-profits and service organizations. At OPL, teams read a picture book and sang along with a fingerplay (highlighting early literacy); strummed some chords on a ukelele from a Try It Yourself kit; located a book club set; and played one of the library's lawn dice games.
- 10. Patrons and community members are excited about Check Out Wisconsin State Parks at Your Library. In less than three weeks OPL has distributed 38 free day passes to Wisconsin state parks. Library promotion of the program has captured a lot of attention, leading to hundreds of shares on social media by individuals and a featured reel by Discover Oshkosh on Instagram.
- 11. An impromptu demonstration of OPL's online resources for Winnebago Area Literacy Council staff led to setting up an expanded session for WALC tutors. Community Engagement Librarian Sandy Toland demonstrated Bluebird and Mango language resources; explored the international offerings of Kanopy and Hoopla; then navigated to Learning Express for practice exams for positions in health care, civil service, emergency services and trades. She pointed out ways they could learn about and share their learners' language and culture and parlay that into conversations and vocabulary.

Budget Advocacy

Making the case: Flat funding puts excellent library service at risk.

There has been no increase in city funding approved for the library in seven years, but costs continue to increase. Just as inflation stresses household budgets, inflation puts pressure on our ability to purchase library materials and to fund library services.

What could greater tax support accomplish?

A funding increase would help the library to advance important strategic goals and objectives.

Collection: The library needs to maintain a robust collection of materials in a variety of formats. Print, downloadable and streaming options all need budget support for OPL to provide the range of reading, learning and leisure experiences that meet the needs of today's patrons.

Downtown destination: A facility upgrade would attract more people to the library by making the building easier to navigate and more suitable for a wider variety of patron and community needs. A "marketplace" approach to showcasing materials would make them more accessible and help to increase use.

Library in the community: Extending service outside of downtown Oshkosh would make it more convenient for community members to use the library. Examples include book drops and materials pickup; programming; and outreach (including issuing/updating library cards; and showing people how to use library resources).

Building relationships: Mobilizing more staff and other resources for community-focused partnerships, projects and collaborations would extend the benefits of library resources and expertise to a broader cross-section of the community.

Everyday Advocacy: Building relationships with stakeholders

Best practice: Building relationships helps when it's time to "make the ask."

- Invite councilors for a library tour/orientation. (staff)
- When speaking with a councilor, ask what they know about the library. Find out what's important to them to gauge how the library serves or could address that need.
- Invite them to a library program/activity that matches their interest.
- Report back what you learned after your meeting or conversation.
